as part of its on-track programming.

“Our event schedule will provide great entertainment and activities all weekend,” said Tim Ramsberger, President of the Honda Grand Prix of St. Petersburg. “We are pleased to welcome the addition of Historic Sportscar Racing to our track schedule. The series will add a new facet to our event and help us in celebrating race cars from the past. Spectators of all ages will get a kick out of taking a step back in time and sharing in the wonderful history and excitement created by these unique cars.”

The marquee race for the weekend will be the IZOD IndyCar Series race, which takes place on Sunday, March 24 at Noon and will be broadcast live on NBC Sports. In addition to Historic Sportscar Racing, the support series line-up will feature races from Firestone Indy Lights, Cooper Tires USF2000 Championship, Pro Mazda Championship and Pirelli World Challenge.

Single day Sunday reserved grandstand tickets are available March 1 and range in price from $75 to $100 for adults and $50 to $75 for juniors. General admission tickets for Sunday are $50 for adults and $25 for juniors.
